MAKE FIRST IRON SINCE THE STRIKE

Youngstown Steel Magnates Confer With Union Heads

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 11.—The first iron manufactured in the Mahoning valley since the steel strike began was poured from a blast furnace at the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company early this morning, according to an observer outside the plant who saw the metal poured from the furnace. Activity at practically all other plants here indicates an attempt to manufacture iron soon.

Officials of the Brier Hill Steel Company say that iron will be poured late today from one of their blast furnaces, which has already been started. At the Carnegie Steel Company it was said that two furnaces are ready to begin making iron as soon as orders are received from Pittsburgh. The Republic Iron and Steel Company also has a blast furnace heated up ready to operate, officials said.

Pickets were apparently taken off their guard at the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company for none were on hand this morning when the first iron was poured.

CONFERENCE AT YOUNGSTOWN
YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 11.—Conferences between Amalgamated Association Iron, Steel and Tin Workers and two of the largest steel companies in the Mahoning Valley, The Republic Iron and Steel Company and the Brier Hill Steel Company, are to begin today, according to announcement by D. J. Davis, vice president of the Amalgamated.

Effort is to be made to conclude settlements similar to that reached in the Trumbull Steel Company at Warren where an agreement was made permitting all employees to return along with the Amalgamated men, who were under an agreement before the strike, according to Mr. Davis. About 10,000 men in the sheet mills of the plants named will return to work if the settlements are affected.

HEARINGS AT PITTSBURGH
PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 11.—Formal hearings at the Federal Building here today occupied the time of the senators investigating the steel strike in the Pittsburgh district. A number of witnesses met by the Kenyon committee during a tour of the mill towns in the district yesterday were heard, including working men both from the striking and non-striking groups.

The committee will leave for Washington Sunday night without visiting the Ohio Steel communities, it was announced last night, following the receipt of a telegram from Senator Curtis, Kansas, stating the presence of the members of the committee was needed at the capital Monday.

Robbers Shoot
Clerk—Get a
$5,000 Payroll

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 11.—Bandits in an automobile escaped with $5,000 here today after holding up two men carrying the Pinkerton Tobacco Company payroll, and shooting an employee, George Hillman. He received four shot wounds and is expected to die.

The hold-up was committed at a street corner near the plant when the bandits halted the payroll car and without waiting for the money to be handed over, shot Hillman. Another employee of the tobacco concern, Charles Kirk, was forced to turn over the payroll money, which was carried in a satchel. Leaving Hillman prostrate in the middle of the street, the bandits drove away.

Unveiling in Manchester, England, of Statue of Abraham Lincoln

Another tribute abroad to the greatness of Abraham Lincoln was paid recently at Manchester, England. An immense crowd witnessed the ceremony when the Lord Mayor unveiled a statue of Lincoln at Platt Field Park.

2.75 BEER GOES OUT UNDER FEDERAL DRY LAW; INDUSTRIAL PLAN NEXT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The struggles of two and three quarter beer to maintain a legal status will come to an end when the prohibition enforcement bill, enactment of which was completed yesterday by congress when the house adopted the conference report is made law, either by the president's signature or automatically should his illness prevent him from signing it within ten days.

The manufacture or sale of any beverage containing more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol is prohibited under both the war-time and constitutional enforcement sections of the measure. All provisions of the war-time section become effective as soon as the measure becomes law.

After a vain final attempt by anti-prohibition members in the house to block the measure by sending it back to conference, the conference report was approved by a vote of 221 to 70.

Industrial Plan Next
WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Foundations for the settlement of many of the most vexing problems in the nation's industries have been laid at the first week's sessions of the national industrial conference, it was declared today by delegates representing the employers, labor and public.

Each of the groups, particularly the employers and labor representatives, have outlined their attitudes in proposals laid before the conference. Next week, it was said today, the work of assimilating these proposals would be started. This is the task for which the conference was called by President Wilson.

Despite the wide divergence between the proposals of the employers and those of labor, delegates representing the public were said today to be far from discouraged. It had been expected that the initial propositions would be far apart but with the public representatives acting as a balance wheel. Another week, in the opinion of those most active in the conference, will see the two opposing factions approaching a common meeting ground.

The conference was not in session today, a deadlock in the general committee of 15 over the proposal of labor for arbitration of the strike having forced an adjournment.

2,000 LOST AS BRITISH SHIP SINKS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)
ARCHANGEL, Oct. 11.—Two thousand lives have been lost in the wreck of an unnamed British ship on the Norwegian coast, according to a wireless dispatch received here from Helsingfors.

If the loss of life in the wreck reported in the foregoing is as large as indicated the disaster will mark a new record in the annals of the sea.

It would seem probable the ship which was wrecked was a military transport bringing British soldiers from Archangel, from which port Great Britain has been embarking large numbers of men during the last month.

The largest recorded loss of life in a marine disaster occurred when the Titanic was sunk after colliding with an iceberg south of New Foundland on April 14, 1912, the list of deaths, showing 1,503 names. The Lusitania, sunk by a German submarine May 7, 1915, carried with her more than 1,200 of her passengers and crew. When the Empress of Ireland was sent to the bottom in the Gulf of St. Lawrence on May 30, 1914, the loss of life was 1,027.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—Neither the admiralty or Lloyds have received any information relative to the wreck of a British ship the Norwegian coast. At these sources the report is discredited.

Train Robbed in Memphis Yards

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)
MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 11.—Five men who boarded a southbound passenger train on the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley railroad as it was leaving the yards here early today held up the express messenger and his assistant, secured several packages and escaped when the train was stopped at West Junction in response to a telephone message from a yardmaster who saw the men board the train.

The messenger and his assistant were found lying on the floor bound. One of the stolen packages was said to have been shipped by a Memphis jewelry concern.

Posses were organized quickly and began a search of the surrounding section.

AUTO BANDITS SECURE $11,000

CLEVELAND, Oct. 11.—Six robbers this morning held up the paymaster of the Samuel Emerson Company, in the lobby of an Euclid avenue building and after throwing pepper into his face, escaped in an automobile with $11,000 which the paymaster carried in a money bag.

One of the machines entered in the Army Air Service Transcontinental Derby is the "Hoosier Boy," piloted by Lieutenant John B. Wright. His mechanic is Sergeant B. Colesman. An interesting contestant is Brigadier-General L. E. O. Charlton, who during the war was in command of the British air forces in the Amiens sector. He is now air attaché at the British Embassy at Washington.

WEATHER CONDITIONS IN THE EAST DELAYED CROSS COUNTRY PLANES

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)
RENO, Nev., Oct. 11.—Lieutenant B. W. Maynard, leading the westbound flyers, landed at Battle Mountain Nevada at 8:13 this morning.

BRYAN, O., Oct. 11.—Because of weather conditions, only one of the eleven west-bound trans-continental flyers here Saturday morning ventured to take the air. Lieutenant H. W. Sheridan, of Haviland-4, left for Chicago at 8 a. m.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 11.—Lieutenant Belvin W. Maynard, piloting airplane No. 31 in the trans-continental air derby and his observer, Walter E. Richards, left the ground at Salduro, 100 miles west of her at 5:55 o'clock this morning, Pacific time, bound for San Francisco. Battle Mountain, Nev., is the next control point west of Salduro.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 11.—Rain, which had been falling for several hours, stopped at 6 o'clock and weather conditions in this vicinity were at that time favorable for the east and westbound aviators in the trans-continental air race.

A heavy rain starting at 7 a. m. held up all the westbound aviators.

AIR TRIP HALF OVER
CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—Leading flyers in the trans-continental airplane race, begun Wednesday, expected to complete the first half of their journeys today, thus making an epoch in aviation in the United States.

Lieutenant Belvin W. Maynard, the "flying person" is leading the great endurance test. He was prepared to take off this morning for San Francisco from Salduro, Utah, his overnight stop.

Allied Fleet Ready
For Action—London Waits News.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)
LONDON, Oct. 11.—Confirmation of a newspaper report that German forces have captured Riga is being awaited here, but if the disparity of the rival forces is as great as reported in some dispatches, the success of the attack on the city would not be surprising.

"Germany's new war," is featured in this morning's newspapers, but reports printed here add nothing of importance to dispatches received by The Associated Press. The whereabouts of General Von der Goltz continues to be the subject of contradictory rumors and estimates of the size of army commanded by Colonel Avaloff-Borodtch also show wide divergence.

The Morning Post which is pronouncedly anti-German, attacks the British government for having "fumbled the whole question." It sees Poland "in danger of being throttled by the Teutonic grip now tightening on her throat," and says Premier Paderewski's flying visit to London recently was for the purpose of imploring help from Great Britain, which the newspaper hopes will be granted.

The Daily News representing an opposite view from that of the Morning Post, also attacks the government and the allies, declaring: "The unintelligible chaos into which the East European situation is fast dissolving is the just nemesis of the allied policy to overthrow Bolsheviks, with the least cost to the entente powers."

Interest here now is largely focused in the result obtained from the note which the supreme council of the peace conference is reported to intend to send to Berlin today, demanding the withdrawal of German troops from the Baltic provinces on pain of coercive measures from the allies.

ALLIED FLEET READY
COGENHAGEN, Oct. 11.—British and French warships in the harbor of Riga have cleared for action, according to a dispatch from Riga to the Lettish Information Bureau, because of the attack by German troops under the command of General Goltz upon the Lettish army, defending Riga.

The forces of General Goltz include impetuous German troops, with tanks and airplanes, says the report, which adds that the Germans attempted to bomb Riga, but were repulsed.

The Letts claim that their losses were small.

A state of siege has been proclaimed at Riga as a precautionary measure. Reserves are being formed among those who are unable to go to the front. Soldiers who were starting toward the front were showered with flowers.

St. Olai is Attacked
The Lettish Bureau says the Germans and Russians attacked on the front of St. Olai, 20 kilometers from Riga, and the shore of the Gulf of Riga and occupied the coastal town of Shlissel and also attacked the coastal town of Dubbelm, 30 kilometers from Riga.

The Letts, in addition to claiming to have inflicted sanguinary losses on the enemy and to have destroyed an armored train at the St. Olai Station, declare they destroyed companies of Germans with their machine-gun fire. The fighting continues on the whole frontier.

RATTLE THE BONES OF SKELETON FOR CENSUS MAN IS DUE

Compile Your Family History and Prepare To Tell All.

ARE 29 QUESTIONS

Uncle Sam Gets Inquisitive At This Time of Year.

Get ready to haul out the family skeletons and prepare to reveal secrets which you have not discussed lest the children should hear them. Uncle Sam's getting all set for his 14th decennial gossip fest and he wants to know about many of your private affairs.

For instance, he wants to know how old you are, what your business is, whether you are married, single, widowed or divorced, what your relationship is to the head of the family in which you are living, the place of your birth, whether the house in which you live is mortgaged, etc.

There are 29 questions that Uncle Sam's census enumerators will ask and by the time they are through, the chances are they will know about as much about you as you know yourself.

Here Are Questions.

Here are the things they will ask: Name of the street on which you live, number of your house or farm. Name of each person whose place of abode on Jan. 1, 1920, was in your family. This means every person living on Jan. 1, 1920. If the census enumerator arrives on Jan. 5, and a baby happened to be born the day before, the youngster will have to wait until 1930 to be included in the millions in this country. Children born after next New Year's Day won't be included in the census. Relationship of the person to the head of the family.

Home rented or owned. If owned, free or mortgaged.

Sex, color or race, age at last birthday, single, married, widowed or divorced.

AVERS HUSBAND CALLS HER VILE NAMES

Charging that he refused to support her, and that she has been compelled to work for a living since their marriage, Leora Bird filed a petition in common pleas court Saturday for divorce from Charles Bird.

They were married, she states, June 11, 1917, at Nowana, Oklahoma, and from the beginning, although he was physically able to do so he did not properly support her. He called her vile names and refused to go places with her, and mistreated her child by a former marriage, she alleges.

She states that she does not know his present whereabouts. There are no children.

Some One Used the Wrong Name

A few days ago the Times printed a story regarding a Lima couple creating a scene in St. Marys, and the name of Louis F. Decker, of the Val Decker Packing Co., of Piqua, was named as one of the parties mixed up in the affair.

A letter from Mr. Decker states that he is entirely innocent of participation in the St. Marys affair and that he never knew the Mr. and Mrs. Smith named in the story. He states that he was taken for the wrong party.

$3,000 Stock of Liquor Looted In East Toledo

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 11.—What is believed to be the biggest loot on record here from a home liquor cache was made last night when thieves, using a motor truck, carted away 34 cases of liquor from the home of John Losgar, who lives in East Toledo. Losgar tells the police he valued the liquor at $3,000.

SOUGHT CHARITY; SEEKS DIVORCE

Alleging that she has been compelled to live on the charity of friends since their marriage, Ethel Wiley filed a petition in common pleas court Saturday, asking divorce from Duke Wiley, on the grounds of gross neglect of duty and non-support.

They were married at Toledo, Feb. 14, 1912, and have no children. She claims that it was a habit with him to remain away from home at night, and that he frequently stayed away three nights at a time. She further claims that during two years of their married life she was ill and he refused to furnish necessary assistance. Wiley has now been away from home since March 31, this year, she alleges.

LOCAL ORDERS WILL NOT CELEBRATE

Sunday, October 12th, will mark the four hundredth and twenty-seventh anniversary of the landing of Christopher Columbus in this country. Although the day is not a national holiday, it is usually observed in a fitting manner by members of the Lima Council, 126 Knights of Columbus, as well as by the Christopher Columbus society, of which Frank Colucci is the president.

However no program has been arranged for Sunday by either of the above societies. A large delegation from the Lima council Knights of Columbus is expected to go to Wapakoneta Sunday afternoon where they will attend initiation ceremonies at which a class of more than 100 members will be admitted into the order. Following the degree work a banquet to the members and visitors will be served by the ladies of St. Joseph Catholic church at the hall.

Is Suing a Man To Hold Account

Mrs. Ella Hudson, has entered suit to prevent the South Side Building and Loan Association from paying to S. F. Sawyer, of the Findlay Red Brick Products Co., the sum of $2,779.18 her deposits with this association.

This is only a part of money and stocks which Mrs. Hudson claims to have been persuaded by Sawyer to pay him in payment for stock in the Findlay Red Brick Products Co. a company which she claims does not exist.

In addition to her pass book to the Building and Loan association she alleges that she turned over to him a $50.00 Liberty Bond, 8 shares of stock in the American Stamping and Enamel Co., valued at $900.00 and 30 shares in the National Life Insurance Co., valued at $300. All of these, she claims, she gave to Sawyer when unduly influenced by him.

SPENT TREMENDOUS SUM. Somebody figures that the money this country spent on munitions during the war would be sufficient to rebuild New York city twice.

YOUNG MAN HURT. Berlyn O. Brennenman, 23 years of age, living at 126 East Vine street, was painfully but not seriously injured about 1:30 o'clock, Saturday afternoon, when a steel flywheel on which he was working at Garford plant, fell on him. His foot was badly crushed, and he was somewhat bruised about the body. The young man was removed in the Williams and Davis ambulance to St. Rita's hospital.

LOCAL AUTOMOBILE COMPANY PURCHASE LARGE APARTMENTS

Lima Franklin Concern Buys Structure on W. Market Street.

DUNN STILL AT IT

He Will Erect New Apartment At Metcalf and Elm Streets.

One of the largest real estate deals of the week was the purchase by The Lima Franklin Auto Company of the Etling apartments at the corner of Market and Pierce streets. The consideration was given as $55,000 and the deal was made by R. E. Davis, local real estate dealer.

The apartments are among the oldest in Lima, but are up-to-date in every way. There are nine in number, two on Market street and seven on Pierce street. The apartments were owned by Mrs. Mary Davis, who bought them about four months ago from Mr. Dunn. The automobile company made the purchase as an investment, but it is later expected that an auto sales room will be erected on the site.

Initial steps in the work of a six family apartment house of the Spanish Mission type to be erected at Metcalf and Elm streets by A. J. Dunn were taken the first part of the week when the excavation was started. Completion of the building which will be nearly similar to the Frances apartments, recently built by Dunn at the corner of Baxter and Elm streets is expected early in the spring. The probable cost of the apartments will be in the neighborhood of $70,000.

Among the real estate deals in the country surrounding Lima was the purchase during this week by Peter Seitz of a 132 acre farm belonging to Beach Graham, in Shawnee township for a consideration of $25,000. The deal was closed the first of the week.

The work on reconstruction of the Blum building, west North street which the local council Knights of Columbus purchased for their new home a few months ago is well under way, and the building will in all probability be ready for occupancy the first of the year. The third story is now being constructed, while an entire new front is to be placed on the building. Hulskens and McLaughlin are the architects.

Work on the building started by Theodore Michael on the north side of Spring street between Main and Elizabeth is progressing rapidly, and the building which was started some weeks ago will soon be ready for occupancy. It is a three story brick affair, the lower floor to be occupied by sales rooms or for rental purposes, and the two upper stories for living quarters. It will cost in the neighborhood of $25,000.

Five building permits to the amount of $12,000 were taken out the first of the week by the East Side Realty company for the erection of houses for workmen, to be built on David street, just east of the fair grounds. The houses will be sold when completed.

Last night's audience mystified

Tries vainly to detect the difference between art of famous songsters and RE-CREATION by Edison's new phonograph

Those present at Memorial Hall last night saw Collins and Harlan walk onto the stage. They saw them take their position next to a beautiful cabinet. They saw their lips give voice to the opening line of "Antie Skinner's Chicken Dinner." Then suddenly their lips were still—but song kept flowing on.

How came this? They were hearing the voices of Collins and Harlan, yet Collins and Harlan were not singing. The entire audience gasped as it slowly realized that it had been unable to distinguish between the living voices of Collins and Harlan and the RE-CREATION of those voices by the New Edison.

Five building permits to the amount of $12,000 were taken out the first of the week by the East Side Realty company for the erection of houses for workmen, to be built on David street, just east of the fair grounds. The houses will be sold when completed.

FRESH BUNTES HARD CANDIES
CENTRAL NEW STAND.

This was the daring test undertaken last night at Memorial Hall by Thomas A. Edison. He sought to prove that no difference exists between the voice of the living artist and its RE-CREATION by the New Edison. The musically cultured of Lima were invited to pass judgment. No test could have been more exacting.

Collins and Harlan made comparison after comparison. The mystified audience tried vainly to catch a difference between the original rendition and its RE-CREATION by the New Edison. No one could tell one from the other.

It was a triumph whole and complete for the New Edison.

The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph with a Soul"

The instrument used in last night's Tone-Test is the regular model which sells for $285 (in Canada, $431). It is an exact duplicate of the Laboratory Model which Mr. Edison perfected after spending Three Million Dollars in experiments.

The New Edison alone of all phonographs is capable of sustaining this test. Until Mr. Edison knew it would do so, he regarded his work as unfinished.

Ask some one who was present last night. Learn the amazing truth. Then come in and let us prove it personally to you.

CO-OPERATION

"What you want to do first, his own bootstraps—to raise himself Bern," she remarked executively, "is to find out about those rates and routings. They have classes in everything on earth at the Y. M. C. A.—I even saw 'Classes for Grocers' on a sign outside their building the other day. And if they haven't what you want they'll tell you where you can get it."

"Then will come some hard digging, dear—" she went round the table and gave him a little squeeze as she said it. "I know—because I've been through it. You'll have to give up your poor old gym. And pitch into night work and all sorts of weary problems. And it'll be hard, Bern. I know what I'm talking about. Working all day and then working nights is a terrible job. I did it; you can do it! I'll help you. Well manage it together."

"Oh, Bern, I'll have the nicest dinners for you—ready on clock-work schedule, so's you can shoot right off to the night school all fed up and fat! And I'll get books from the library and read up on this socialism thing and pop the most important points over to you while you're eating! And before you know it you'll be getting a raise, and then another, and presently Mr. Arkwright will jerk you out of that shipping clerk job and make you head of the export department or something. Just one step at a time. Bern, awaying with the System (she was thinking again of the "funny staircase" at Conney Island), and once we're on top we'll shout down—being so much smarter than the others and so much better circumstanced—and tell the rest how to do the same thing."

It was all he said. But the way he said it earned conviction of his earnestness toward the hard new programme.

There is no miracle in producing results by hard work. Yet, if the socialists are right, some 7,000,000 families in these United States, despite eternal toil, are forever toiling the bread-line, and forever will, so long as the "System" lasts.

But there is a miracle about hard work. And it lies in the ability of the worker to pull himself up by

LIVES WITH BACK BROKEN

TEFFIN, Oct. 11.—Watson Coffman, whose back was broken in a quarry accident near here last week, will recover, physicians announced today.

An X-ray examination revealed that the first lumbar vertebra was badly crushed and that nerves centering at that point have been pinched but not severed.

The bones have been restored to normal position and Coffman is recovering the use of his legs.

NOVELTY ENJOYED BY LIMA FOLKS AT MEMORIAL HALL

Collins and Harlan Entertain Crowd In Unique Fashion.

REVIVE OLD SONGS

Human Voices Could Not Be Distinguished From Phonograph.

A rare musical treat, is the verdict of the vast audience of music lovers who packed Memorial Hall to capacity Friday evening, when Arthur Collins and Byron G. Harlan, two of America's favorite entertainers, assisted by William G. Reed, rendered a program demonstrating the marvelous perfection attained in the re-creation of their voices on the latest New Edison phonograph.

The artists in turn sang old favorite melodies in unison with the photographic reproduction of their voices, pausing at times, which could have scarcely been detected but for the cessation of the movement of the singer's lips. The wonderful Edison carried on the melody with uninterrupted strength and clearness and without a trace of metallic ring or mechanical imperfection.

In order to eliminate the imaginary effect that vision plays in determining whether the artist is really singing, or whether the critic is hearing the magic Edison re-creation, the room was darkened while Collins, standing beside the phonograph was singing in unison. The enchanted audience, unable to see what was transpiring on the stage, was listening critically for Collins, in the flesh to cease singing, when to their utter astonishment the lights were flashed on, and while Collins was still singing it was the phonographic Collins alone the artist having disappeared from the stage.

"How You Gonna Keep 'Em Down on the Farm, After They've Seen Paree," and "I'm a 12 O'clock Fellow in a Nine O'clock Town," brought hearty applause and roars of laughter when sung by Harlan, while "The Preacher and the Bear," and "Any Rags" were received

CUTICURA HEALS INFAMED KNEE

Of Little Daughter, Blister Caused Burning.

"My little daughter fell, hurting her knee, and her stocking poisoned it. Then it broke out with blisters causing it to burn, and her knee was inflamed. She could not bear to have anything over her knee, and she kept me up nights. I finally got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. The blisters stopped spreading, and I used two cakes of Soap and one fifty-cent box of Ointment and she was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Emma McWhorter, Kibbourne, Ill.

Wonderful Work Among Children of Allen County

"And a Little Child shall Lead them"—a Biblical thought that often strikes a good man or woman these times when they see a big organization of self sacrificing public-spirited citizens busy with matters concerning the health strength, morals and education of our little ones is having a splendid exemplification here in Lima. It is the little child that is leading these more than hundred philanthropic residents of Lima and Allen county to set up a busy campaign headquarters at No. 224 W. High St., to install a telephone (Main 6593 by the way) and to establish business methods that are bound to result in the carrying of the message to the uttermost parts of the county. This high street campaign headquarters of the Allen county Child Welfare Association will be well worth watching for the next few weeks. There are no drones nor poseurs here. Everything is strictly business. The same clever management that has operated to attract the attention of the National Child Welfare officials and produce results as the opening up of five public playgrounds, the employment of a Nationally well known Field Worker, and a Rural Nurse, and the sending back to school of the delinquents, is at work this year in the campaign for additional memberships and funds—and there is no doubt but that they will get them.

This morning (Saturday) there were a large group of women in the business districts thirty already have been duly qualified and accepted, to interview the men of business of the subject. All these women will know what they are talking about. The greater number of them have children of their own. All of them are conspicuous in some form of local social work. All of them will be able to present the cause of the Association briefly and without waste of words or time. It would be a pretty difficult matter to refuse one of these, God's messengers, when she asks for that tribute which elects it given to be one of God's anointed. She will ask not as one asks for aims in the accepted sense; not for charity as one usually cognizes charity; but she will ask for the personal and continued interest of that auditor in her little charges; that unwavering and faithful interest that places the name of the citizen on the honor rolls of the welfare Association as a member and keeps it there as a guarantee that there shall be no failure in the stewardship of these who shall in due time have to give way to the new citizen—for the child of the day is the man of tomorrow. On Monday the list of women will be augmented by others, and gathering at the official headquarters will be ready for business at 9 o'clock that morning.

A partial list of these women is given herewith. *Mesdames Allan Knisely, Holmes Mackenzie, T. P. Hoffman, E. F. Sayers, Arthur Stull, Harry O. Bentley, John Harvey, Edgar Curtiss, Clinton Sealts, B. F. Thomas, Rhonda Zellitz Crow, Frank E. Baxter, William L. Russell, Krantz Kouninski, Henry Delisle, Jr., N. F. Cunningham, Walter Jackson, O. E. Chenoweth, James Mackenzie, H. H. Starrett, E. H. Lindesmith, Ben Schultz, T. R. Dunlap, George T. Glover, and Alfred Wemmer.

Tag day this year will be next Saturday the 18th. Last year it will be recalled this feature was one of the most signal success of affairs ever attempted in Lima. The results really surprised its projectors. For this year there will be a number of surprises, and the stimulus will be even greater, for the year has shown what excellent use can be made of the member's money. In the co-operation of the schools, the city has been subdivided—

Principal Offenhour of General High School and Mrs. Gwen Jones Pennington and Miss Drusilla Reilly having charge of this district; and the South Side with Principal Pogue and Misses Mary Conrath and Myrtle Busick directing the energies of the teachers and pupils.

It will also be recalled that Lincoln school led last year with Miss Mary Goré and her assistants capturing first honors. The women of the county are well organized and are already at work. Every school district has its chairman and she has her helpers. There is not a child however young or infirm or unknown in the county of Allen but will have its future assured, so far as those precautions are concerned that correct such delinquencies.

In this connection a little pamphlet prepared by the Association's Field Worker and distributed will be read with interest.

"We must know" says the leaflet, "the conditions under which our children are being brought into the world; how they are being guided and protected and how trained for the responsibility and enjoyment of maturity. The Child Welfare Association, specializing as it is, in the study, care and protection of the child, feels keenly its responsibility in this matter. It is our special hope that all children may have those experiences and opportunities which are normal for the child, and to this end we are bending all our energies.

First of all the mother must be right. She must not be handicapped by illness, poverty, ignorance or any of the preventable ills. Before the little one can be influenced by any outside agency, kindergarten, playground, church or other community environment, his mother is for him "Instigator, Audience, playmate and apologist."

Where the mother must, for some unavoidable reason, be away from her child, the Child Welfare Association is able to do much along this line.

cliation is glad to do every thing possible to help her find good temporary homes.

During the last year a number of children have been cared for in this way; tomorrow will see the return of one mother who has been gone nine months because of illness, she will find her children (there are three of them) well and happy. Next the home must be right. Perhaps there is no place of work more difficult than the rebuilding of a badly run-down home. And no piece of work more important. More than half of our child-wreckage is due to broken homes. The child in a decent home, where there is someone interested in what he is doing, preferably, always, the mother, is of course, the ideal which we keep before us and work for.

There are many homes in Lima calling loudly, as every social worker knows, for intensive reconstructive work, and we must not fail to heed these cries from the desert places. Little, unshaped futures are there. Warped, embittered lives may result.

The school life of the child is a vital interest with us. The friendly visitor in the home can find hundred ways in which to help the oftentimes helpless mother, and the irresponsible, little child, in his relations with that larger social environment, the school.

It is our aim to help the recognized school authorities, in their efforts to keep all children in school. There are many ways in which we can help along this line. Absence from school may be due to lack of clothes. It is then our duty to secure these from the proper agency and get the child back as soon as possible. It may be due to discouragement, and a little personal help on our part can accomplish much. It may be due to physical inability to make good. With the splendid co-operation of Doctors and Hospitals we are able to do much along this line.

I believe it was at the Child Standards Conference, Washington, D. C. this spring, that the statement was made that the average loss of schooling from ailments affecting the child from his neck up, is one year, per child. Since our last campaign, the Child Welfare Association is directly responsible for some fifty operations, performed on school children, in this city for eye, ear, nose and throat difficulties and the results have been more than gratifying.

In addition to this special line many children have been cared for other troubles. Children have been found in wretched physical condition and have been helped to health and happiness.

Not only is this true of the city, but the entire county, under the able supervision of a Public Health Nurse, giving full time to rural work, is being cared for. The schools of the county are co-operating splendidly and Public Health Program, of great educational value is now being carried on in the country schools.

Playgrounds

Play being as much the business of childhood, as self-expression, through toil, is the business of adulthood, quite naturally the Child Welfare Association is trying to do its part to foster the play instinct in the child. To give every child the opportunity to play in a clean, environment, under proper supervision.

Play for the child, is growth—the gaining of life. So important is it that it has to do with whether a child shall grow up into a normal right-thinking, individual. The kind, the amount, and the directing of that play, and the environment in which it is set, determine how useful it will be to the life, when the business of childhood, play, shall be exchanged for the business of adulthood, work.

The Child Welfare Association

working once more in co-operation with the schools, supervised five playgrounds in the city this summer. Three of the directors of playgrounds were employed by the association and the general supervisor of all the work was employed by them.

In addition to organized plays and games, free use of apparatus, special picnics and outings, opportunity was offered for clay, modelling, drawing, wood-carving, sewing, constructive wood-work, etc.

Children were found with marked talent. Interest was stimulated in the arts by bringing to the playgrounds for their enjoyment beautiful examples of work done in plaster, terra cotta, brass, wood and also copies of old Greek vases, bas-reliefs, copies of old paintings and modern pieces of interest. One boy modelled a very acceptable head of the children's funny favorite, Charlie Chaplin.

We were able, through the kind help of the City Council, to secure a wading pool for Lincoln Park, which will greatly add to next summer's fun.

The value of the Playground, from the child's point of view, is his interest in the play opportunities. Its value from our point of view, is the right growth of the child, and here is our opportunity to study him. Especially is it our opportunity to get acquainted with the child with the opportunity to play in a clean, environment, under proper supervision.

child who is in the habit of eating whatever turns up, whenever he can get it, but incidentally for the benefit of all children. This is the Penny Lunch. It is hoped that at recess periods some arrangement can be made whereby the child can secure a little wholesome food, milk or a sandwich. Many children go to school without breakfast, or with a most unwholesome one. The opportunity to refresh himself with something really healthful needs to be given and made attractive to the child.

"We may find it necessary to attach penny balloons to the milk bottles; for even adults must often be enticed into doing what is good for them." (This paragraph offers opportunity or a bit of explanation. In one of the school districts it was found that many of the children were going across the street to invest their pennies in a toy balloon—some shrewd merchant had calculated rightly that he could get all the spare pennies in the district if he could get the thing started right. The thing to do now is to look up this s.m. and secure his allegiance to the penny milk bottle scheme).

"The Free Public Kindergarten" continues the leaflet, "is still a hope of the organization and it may be possible before the year rolls round to do something along this line.

The Association is especially interested in the blind children of our community and those whose eyes should be saved. We are working in close co-operation with the officials of the State School for the Blind and also the Special Agent from the Commission for the Blind now active in our midst. We desire the co-operation of the public not only in becoming members of the organization, but in volunteer service, and in directing us to those needing our services.

Sunday In The Churches

Next Sunday evening Rev. R. H. Moon, pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, will begin a series of talks on "World Conditions as they are today and the Remedy."

Speaking of this series of sermons Mr. Moon says "These are days when men's hearts tremble and they wonder what's coming next. They thought the world war was only a large boil on the surface of humanity and that when the war was over all would be well with the world. This boil was healed by the closing of the war but in its place a thousand other boils broke out all over the body of humanity. World conditions are worse today than they were during the war and are continuing to get worse. Wars, strikes, race riots, murder and bloodshed is everywhere." In his travels and evangelistic meetings Mr. Moon finds that thinking people are beginning to realize that world conditions are too badly mixed up for man ever to straighten them out. They see that only God can straighten things out in this poor drunken world. They are beginning to turn to the Bible for a solution of their problems.

Elsewhere in the Times will be found a display advertisement setting forth the subjects for each Sunday evening during October and November. If you are up against it and at a loss to know which way to jump you can find a way out in God's word. Hear Mr. Moon and judge for yourself where peace for you and the world lies.

A "Combination Service" of church and Sunday school, will be launched in St. Paul's church Sunday, Oct. 12. HANDSOME TEA

The Lima Club was the scene of a beautiful party Saturday afternoon, with Mrs. H. M. Crawford and Mrs. Tanner Maple, hostesses presiding at an elaborate function in the form of a five o'clock tea given for Miss Mary Duffield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Duffield, who will marry Howard Horn of Cleveland, and Miss Fannie Hughes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Hughes, who will become the bride of Charles Hover, some time this month. It was one of the most unusual and elaborate parties given for the popular brides-elect within the last several weeks.

Society was in gala dress for the occasion and the gracefully clinging gowns of the guests, were further enhanced by the soft half light of the long west room, where the only illumination came from floor lamps in pastel shades, and from the candle light.

The bridal table, where places were laid for eighteen was gorgeous in its appointments. Pink and blue were used effectively, chrysanthemums in pink centering the table in a mammoth gold basket. Covers were laid for:

Miss Hughes, Miss Duffield, Miss Helen Bower, Miss Evelyn Davison, Miss Leah Hay, Miss Audrey Ackerman, Mrs. Alfred Wemmer, Mrs. Robert Horn, Mrs. Charles Herber, Mrs. W. A. Booth of Pontiac, Mr. Dwight Wyre, of Madison, Wisconsin, Mrs. Glen Sprout, Mrs. Francis Durbin, Mrs. Bert Barber, Mrs. John Connor, Mrs. Tanner Maple and Mrs. H. M. Crawford.

Those seated at the eleven smaller tables were:

Seen In the Shops

A trio of gorgeous costumes for evening wear recently seen in a local shop are so attractive that they must be described for the benefit of those who are to attend the early fall affairs. They have a peacock elegance, so it is appropriate that a peacock be placed in the midst of the display. The wrap is particularly desirable. It is of glorious French blue panne velvet, cut in generous proportions, both as to the width of the coat and the sleeves, so that milady's gown will not be mussed. A large collar and deep cuffs are cut from glossy material.

One gown has a skirt of cloth of silver, brocaded with a large figure of peacock blue. It is draped carelessly in front and falls into a train in the back which is lined with silver cloth. The bodice is of net over silver cloth, the net being elaborately embroidered in large pearl beads. The shoulder straps are of beaded braid.

The other gown is fashioned of peacock green silk net which is lavishly embroidered in silver in large designs of flowers and birds. The overskirt is long and is edged with a line of oblong green beads. The same beads string in loops finish the bottom of the underskirt. The bodice is cut V-shaped and is filled in with silver cloth and wide draped sash finishes the waist. Both gowns are sleeveless.

NURSERY OPENING.

Friday afternoon and evening, from 3 to 5 and from 7 to 9, the Day Nursery will be open to the public, for its formal opening. The nursery will be open in the evening so that the men who have been so splendid in co-operating with the demands of the home and who have aided with their financial support, thereby making the home possible may visit the home and view the results of their splendid work.

PYTHIAN SISTERS.

The Pythian Sisters will meet Tuesday evening, instead of Monday evening. The Grand Chief, Mrs. Mary Porter, of Cleveland will be a guest. There will be a program and delicious refreshments.

Wednesday there will be a district convention meeting in New Bremen.

THE ADVENTURES

of a Married Flirt
by M. K. B.

"Nell?" she cried with a motion toward the two men. "An abduction party?"

"A tea party in the making," I declared gayly, "and I'm going to add another to the guest list. Berry, you don't want to shop with Aunt Fan—she takes hours and hours to buy a single blouse. And in the end it will fall to your lot to return it. Come with me and have Chinese Garden Flower tea in the light of a temple lamp and Mrs. Carlton will play you a Chinese lullaby on the samisen."

Berry sprang out the Meredith car with alacrity and disregarding Fan's frown, leaped on the running board of my car.

"You're on, Mrs. Tind—Nell. It sounds great!"

"Sit on the floor then and I'll try not to look like a little boy's orphan asylum out for a ride. Good bye, Fan, sorry I can't ask you but it's a strictly stag affair." I called back sweetly ignoring the wrathful glance which she cast after me.

I had had opportunity again to note the ornament which she wore on her corsage and there was no doubt whatever that it was the diamond duplicate fashioned for the superstitious lady of whom the salesman had spoken.

"I told Mrs. Carlton I would bring one nice young man for tea and here I am showing up with three. Pretty good for an old married woman!" I laughed, as the three men maintained an awkward silence.

"I wish you wouldn't talk like that," said Berry Meredith pettishly. "I'll bet you're not more than two months older than I."

"La la, listen to the child," I cried.

"But I mean it," he persisted.

"Don't you think so, Captain Frazer?"

"What are you doing—libelling the lady?" asked the Captain with smile.

"But here—what have I done deserve such compliments. Joe Manning, aren't you going to a your mate?"

"I consider compliments quite superfluous in your case," he turned imperturbably. "Your apearance is in its own manner."

I cried "Here, here," and in general laugh which followed, an idle relations were firmly established. Berry Meredith supplied the levity with his chatter and even one was in high good humor when we descended upon Mrs. Carlton's her studio.

"How delightful," she greeted us.

"But will my cakes stand the as slaught? I was expecting but two."

"Never mind, I can survive on bread and butter and kisses," I offered with a provocative glance at Berry Meredith. I had made the impish resolve to flirt outrageously with the boy circumvent both of the other men, each of whom had expected a tête à tête with me in one of the dim-lighted corners of Mrs. Carlton's artistic apartment.

Mrs. Carlton was looking very sprightly and showed no trace of anxiety, but I detected the fragrance of lately-burnt incense and knew that she had taken my advice, though probably from a more mystic motive than I had suggested. She seemed quite happy in the presence of the two older men, as Berry Meredith and I were not missed when we took our teacups into the partial seclusion of a lounge with an overhead canopy of Chinese embroideries.

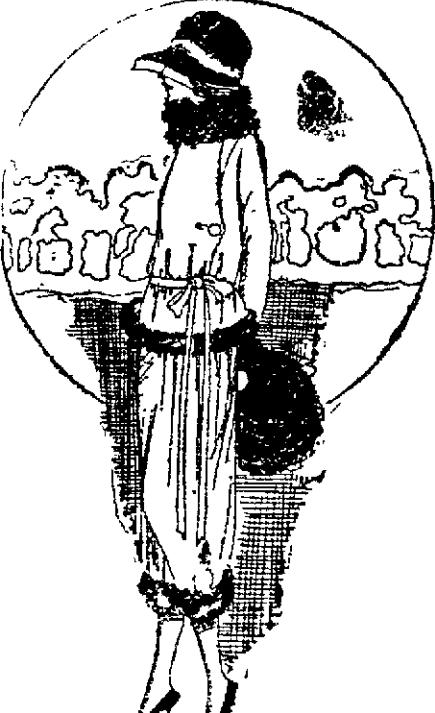

I knew that it was wrong and cruel to play with extreme youth, but the reckless mood was on me which drove me to such lengths that week. As I look back now up those last days of my carefree career, I seem to have been possessed by a demon of wild unrest.

TODAY—"THE LITTLE MINISTER," by James M. Barrie.
MONDAY—"THE WHITE COMPANY," by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle.

BARRIE

JAMES M. BARRIE, BORN 1860.

James Mathew Barrie is one of that great army of Scotchmen who take general charge of England. He was born at Kirriemuir, May 9, 1860. He was educated at Dumfries Academy and Edinburgh University. He was created first baronet in 1913, but long before that date, by universal suffrage he had acquired the title of Prince of Whimsies and First Lord of All Hearts. British titles are perfectly valid in the United States as well as in Great Britain and the Dominions beyond the seas.

After the usual skirmishes of a pennant to find himself by way of the newspapers. Barrie published "Better Dead" in 1887. Then at intervals of a year or less came "Auld Licht Idyls," "When a Man's Single," "A Window in Thrums," "My Lady Nicotine," "The Little Minister," followed by "Sentimental Tommy," "Margaret Ogilvy," (the infinitely tender story of his own mother,) and the immortal "Peter Pan." He soon found his way to the stage (a way all his own) with "The Professor's Love Story," "The Little Minister," "Quality Street," "The Admirable Crichton," "Peter Pan," "What Every Woman Knows," "A Kiss for Cinderella," and "Dear Brutus," and has been most successful with plays, or rather playlets, of

THE LITTLE MINISTER

By J. M. BARRIE

(Condensation by M. E. Alley, Brighton)

Gavin Dishart was bare-alert at once, and hurried to the twenty-one when he and his mother came to Thrums. All Thrums was out in its wyndes and closes—a few of the weavers still in knee-breeches, to look at the new Auld Licht minister. I was there, the dominie of Glen Quaherty, four miles from Thrums, and heavy was my heart as I stood afar off so that Gavins mother might not have the pain of seeing me. I alone of the crowd looked more at her than at her son.

Eighteen years had passed since we parted, and already her hair had lost its brightness, and Margaret was an old woman at only forty-three, and I, who have loved her since I was a hobbledey and shall till I die, am the man who made her old. Many scenes in the Little minister's life come back to me. The first time I ever thought of writing his love story as an old man's gift to a little maid since grown tall, was one night in the old schoolhouse, when my gate creaked in the wind, and my mind drifted back to another gate creaking, the first time I ever saw Gavin and the Egyptian together.

Gavin was brought up to be a minister from his earliest days, and took to the idea enthusiastically. It had been the dream of the two of a manse, of which Margaret was mistress, and Gavin the minister, and now it was fulfilled.

Gavin became at once popular in Thrums, and though short of stature he cast a great shadow. He converted a drunkard, Rob Dow, who adored him, and would do anything in the world for him.

On the fateful evening of October seventeenth, Gavin was returning from Rob Dow's and going home through Caddam Woods, when he heard singing.

The singer came dancing up Windyghoul. Only when she passed him did Gavin see her as a gypsy girl, her bare feet flashing beneath a short green skirt, a twig of rowan berries in her black hair. She was pale with an angel's loveliness. A diamond on her finger shot a thread of fire over a pool as she danced by.

Undoubtedly she was the devil. Gavin leaped after her, but as she saw him she beamed mockingly, then kissed her hand, and was gone.

A moment later came the sound of a horn. The minister was on the wanted to stay and have him put his kiss into words. But it was late, and it was that night as Gavin took her back to Nanny's that I saw them together for the first time.

Love dawned in Babbie's heart that night, and all the world looked new to her, and she longed for Gavin to come. Then she met Rob Dow's little son weeping bitterly, who told her of what sorrow the "wooman who'd bewitched the moonster" would bring everyone. and Babbie, touched to the heart, went away. Months passed, and her.

Then came the fourth of August, the eve of Lord Rintoul's marriage, an old earl staying at the Spittal, the little minister looked in vain for whose bride was reported as young and bonny.

But nearly all of Thrums were concerned over the long drought that had become a calamity, and that night there was to be a special prayer-meeting for rain.

Then suddenly, Babbie came to me in the schoolhouse, saying that Gavin had been killed by a drunken Highland piper. It was not true—a rumor, but I found Gavin, and told him where he would find Babbie, though I felt I was doing wrong.

Babbie told Gavin her story then—that she was to be Lord Rintoul's bride on the morrow. He had found her when a mite, fallen from a gypsy wagon, and for her beauty had reared and educated her. Babbie and Gavin tried to give each other up, then Babbie heard Lord Rintoul's voice, and in terror clung to Gavin, and the two ran off in the darkness to the gypsy camp on the hill to be married over the Tongue by the gypsy King.

That terrible night, with the storm coming, the earl seeking his lost bride, the dour elders relentlessly following their errant minister—and drunken Rob madly bound to save his friend.

Then came the flood, when the heavens opened, and lochs seemed to fall. Babbie, separated from Gavin after the gypsy marriage, fell into Rob's hands, but mercifully escaped, and reached the manse. Gavin wandered all night through the storm after Babbie, and I found him exhausted near my house next morning. He told me all that had passed, and my anxiety for Margaret at the consequences of rash act led me to attempt to reach Thrums. But before I left it was necessary to tell Gavin my story, that he was my son, and Margaret was my wife. Margaret had married Adam Dishart first, and he had gone to sea, and after two years all thought him lost, and she married me. Then when Gavin was three years old, Adam suddenly returned, and I passed out of Margaret's life forever.

Gavin sought to learn if Babbie had been carried off by Lord Rintoul, and found the earl on an island in the midst of floods. Gavin jumped to his aid, but nothing could be done, and it was thought both must perish. His congregation, gathered by the precipice, forgot they had meant to expel him, and listening with dim eyes to his brave last words knew only that they loved him. Then Rob Dow threw his life away to save his friend, and the rope with which he sprang into the flood with minister and earl to safety.

So Gavin and Babbie were married, and no one seeing Babbie going demurely to church on Gavin's arm would guess her history. Yet sometimes at night, Babbie slips into her gypsy frock, with rowan berries in her hair, and Gavin always kisses her. My little maid knows this story as well as I do. She was named for Margaret, and has been my dearest comfort since my Margaret died; but I have lived by the entertainment committee to make the affair a complete success, and it is hoped that all of the members will respond.

MERCY CIRCLE CONVENTION

There were quite a number of Lima women attending the State Convention of the Mercy Circle, Kings Daughters, at Bellefontaine, this week. Among them were, Mrs. E. A. Williams, Jr., Mrs. S. M. Williams, Mrs. Frank A. Boone, Mrs. C. E. Schell, Mrs. R. O. Bigley, Mrs. Charles East.

The really important feature of the entire convention was the decision concerning the Home for Girls that the Circle will maintain at Bucyrus. The property has been purchased, and when the home is completed it will cost $100,000, fifty thousand to be paid in the month of October and the other fifty next October.

But nearly all of Thrums were concerned over the long drought that had become a calamity, and that night there was to be a special prayer-meeting for rain.

Then suddenly, Babbie came to me in the schoolhouse, saying that Gavin had been killed by a drunken Highland piper. It was not true—a rumor, but I found Gavin, and told him where he would find Babbie, though I felt I was doing wrong.

Babbie told Gavin her story then—that she was to be Lord Rintoul's bride on the morrow. He had found her when a mite, fallen from a gypsy wagon, and for her beauty had reared and educated her. Babbie and Gavin tried to give each other up, then Babbie heard Lord Rintoul's voice, and in terror clung to Gavin, and the two ran off in the darkness to the gypsy camp on the hill to be married over the Tongue by the gypsy King.

That terrible night, with the storm coming, the earl seeking his lost bride, the dour elders relentlessly following their errant minister—and drunken Rob madly bound to save his friend.

Then came the flood, when the heavens opened, and lochs seemed to fall. Babbie, separated from Gavin after the gypsy marriage, fell into Rob's hands, but mercifully escaped, and reached the manse. Gavin wandered all night through the storm after Babbie, and I found him exhausted near my house next morning. He told me all that had passed, and my anxiety for Margaret at the consequences of rash act led me to attempt to reach Thrums. But before I left it was necessary to tell Gavin my story, that he was my son, and Margaret was my wife. Margaret had married Adam Dishart first, and he had gone to sea, and after two years all thought him lost, and she married me. Then when Gavin was three years old, Adam suddenly returned, and I passed out of Margaret's life forever.

Gavin sought to learn if Babbie had been carried off by Lord Rintoul, and found the earl on an island in the midst of floods. Gavin jumped to his aid, but nothing could be done, and it was thought both must perish. His congregation, gathered by the precipice, forgot they had meant to expel him, and listening with dim eyes to his brave last words knew only that they loved him. Then Rob Dow threw his life away to save his friend, and the rope with which he sprang into the flood with minister and earl to safety.

So Gavin and Babbie were married, and no one seeing Babbie going demurely to church on Gavin's arm would guess her history. Yet sometimes at night, Babbie slips into her gypsy frock, with rowan berries in her hair, and Gavin always kisses her. My little maid knows this story as well as I do. She was named for Margaret, and has been my dearest comfort since my Margaret died; but I have lived by the entertainment committee to make the affair a complete success, and it is hoped that all of the members will respond.

Mrs. Elmer Collier and daughter Leona, of North Baxter street are enjoying a pleasant western trip, visiting Chicago, Denver, Colorado, and other points of interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Stechschulte (Margaret Connally) are expected home today, after enjoying a ten days wedding trip to Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati and Toledo.

John Marlette, 72, who two weeks ago lost his left thumb and had his hand otherwise severely hurt by being caught under a house-moving roller, has meantime been severely ill from blood-poisoning effects.

His temperature today was slightly above one hundred, making some improvement. The wound was dressed today. Mr. Marlette is a resident of Spencerville. While employed in St. Marys he has been and now is sojourning with his sister-in-law, Mrs. Emma Miller, N. Chestnut street.

Following injuries received late Monday afternoon when the large touring car which he was driving was struck by a Western Ohio interurban car Albert F. Sinclair, 38 years of age, died at St. Rita's hospital at one o'clock Saturday morning. The accident occurred just west of Gethsemani cemetery, where the road crosses the interurban tracks at a tangent. CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—A statement by Major Leonard Wood, commander of the Central Department of the army and of the troops at Gary, Ind., that the situation at that steel center was due to the presence of a dangerous and extremely active group of I. Savings Accounts Increase

During the war, citizens of Allen County invested millions of dollars in Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps. They would have bought more if necessary. Some people thought the money in the country was going out of circulation—but it didn't. Savings accounts were perhaps retarded for the time being, but are now larger than ever. The Allen County Savings and Loan company has made more loans for the building of new homes than ever in its history. This adds more to the tax duplicate, gives employment to labor and builds up the city. It helps you. If you are not a depositor become one today. Put aside some money that will earn you 5%.
